Dear Mr. Snow:

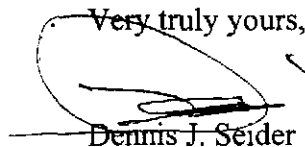

Please provide me with a copy of your draft plan.

Please also avoid any further dam building on California rivers unless and until the counter balancing decisions are made regarding alternative water and power resources and/or the possibility of destruction of other dams improvidently built in the past, which can be taken out, so as to at least maintain, if not enhance, wild and free flowing rivers in California.

Certainly one alternative to which we could turn, in the more efficient use of our state's water, would be the use of drip irrigation systems in place and instead of flood or open ditch irrigation, the cost of which could be subsidized so that the water that is saved could be used to enhance fisheries, wildlife and habitat that have made California such a beautiful state.

Thank you for your kind consideration.

Very truly yours,

Dennis J. Seider
